

CALL FOR PAPERS

THIRD ANNUAL INTERDISCIPLINARY EMERGING SCHOLARS SYMPOSIUM ON INDIA CHINA STUDIES

April 14, 2014 - The New School

Only for students based at universities outside of India and China

The India China Institute at The New School, New York in collaboration with the Centre for Policy Research, New Delhi, the University of Calcutta, the Maulana Abul Kalam Azad Institute of Asian Studies, Yunnan University, Peking University, and China Academy of Social Sciences invites submission of papers for the Third Annual Interdisciplinary Emerging Scholars Symposium on India China Studies. The symposium will be held at The New School in New York City on April 14, 2014.

This unique initiative is designed to provide a platform for researchers pursuing an advanced degree (MPhil/PhD), and young scholars who received their PhDs within the last 5 years, to present their ongoing research. Advanced Master's degree students from professional fields such as law, design, and architecture are also welcome to apply. We look forward to creative interventions from any discipline, methodology, or combination thereof that address any aspect of China or India's economic, social, cultural, and political development. Papers with a strong analytical focus on India-China interactions, comparisons, and impact will be given preference. Only papers not previously published will be accepted.

The symposium is a part of ICI's continuing commitment to build a community of scholars who are engaged in research that focuses on innovative approaches to understanding India China relations. For nine years ICI has provided a space for the establishment and strengthening of scholarly networks for emerging scholars of India and China who wish to share their research and explore opportunities for advancing individual and collaborative scholarship. The emerging scholars program also draws on The New School's tradition of fostering horizontal and vertical knowledge sharing across disciplines and amongst scholars in different stages of their careers.

SUBMISSION REQUIREMENTS

To participate in the symposium, interested candidates are invited to send their papers (word length 6,000 words) to icisymposium2013@gmail.com. The paper should clearly mention the author's name, current affiliation, and contact information. The last date for submission of paper is February 14, 2014. A copy of this information is available online at: <http://wp.me/p3YvYO-mVz>.

REVIEW PROECESS

Selected scholars will be notified by March 14, 2014.

DEADLINES

Submission of papers:	February 14, 2014
Notification of selected papers:	March 14, 2014
Date of Symposium:	April 14, 2014

INDIA CHINA INSTITUTE
THE NEW SCHOOL

THE SYMPOSIUM SERIES AND THE WORKING PAPER SERIES

This symposium is the third part of a three-part symposium series. The first part will be held on November 1-2, 2013 in China for emerging Chinese scholars conducting research on India, and the second will be held on November 8-9, 2013 in India for Indian scholars conducting research on China. Top Indian and Chinese scholars will be invited to join US-based scholars in a special international symposium at The New School in the spring of 2014.

Symposium presenters will also be invited to submit their papers for a standard blind peer review for publication in the India China Working Paper Series. For more information, please visit: <http://www.indiachinainstitute.org/workingpapers/>.

ICI INDIA ACADEMIC PARTNER

The India China Institute's India academic partner is the Centre for Policy Research, New Delhi 110021. For more information about CPR, visit: www.cprindia.org.

CONTACT INFORMATION

Please send all paper submissions and queries related to the event to icisymposium2013@gmail.com. For more information about the Emerging Scholars program at ICI visit: <http://indiachinainstitute.org/initiatives/emerging-scholars/>.

###